Popular Concert On Agenda For Monday Senate Session

Action on a popular concert at Wartburg will be taken by the Student Senate at its meeting Monday evening in the new Senate office.

According to sophomore Stan Vogel, Student Activities chairman, the Crew Cuts with Ellie Mae Morgan Sisters have been tentatively scheduled for April 28.

Other items on the Senate night meeting agenda include reports on the Homecoming dance, social graces, safety and campus driving and campus waste receptacles.

To Discuss Chest

Up for approval will be the committee's Which funds obtained from the coming campaign drive are to be distributed.

At the Senate's last meeting, Nov. 21, the governing body approved the decision to benefit from the chest, as well as the goal set up by the campus chest board.

Lengthy and sometimes heated debate preceded approval, however. Sigh senator Judy Gore questioned why the chest board didn't investigated its authority in publicizing the goal and purpose before gaining Senate approval.

Vogel Responds

Senior representative Bob Vogel opposed implication that the Student International Universities and Affairs fund be considered as a worthy need instead for Lutheran Student Action.

However, the charities recommendation of the chest board were passed with the understanding that the college's financial funds be given a fixed amount of money for the coming year's benefit on a percentage basis.

Hungering for the luck of a quorum, the Senate will meet at a to enact business which will all unfinished business carried over postponed until the coming meeting Monday.

Basketball, SB Meeting Feature Week's Convos

Head case Coach and Dean of Student Fanning will initiate the basketball season with basketball conversation, and student body meeting Tuesday in Old Main chapel for the student body meeting Thursday.

On Tuesday Fanning will be preceded by Coach Norm Johnson of 1955 Iowa Conference Sportsman who will explain rule changes introduced this season and what is possible behind the scenes who make a basketball season successful.

Main item on the agenda for Thursday's student body meeting is discussion of the student body project

Campus Collections Reach $420 Mark; Drive Ends Monday

With the Monday night termination point two days away, the Campus Chest drive reached to 42 per cent completion, with over $400 of the $1,000 goal found this far, according to drive Chairman Merk Frahm, Jr., Senior.

According to Frahm, this is an opportunity for students to back

All students who have not been contacted by solicitors should give their contributions to either Frahm or junior Maynard Middendorf, solicitations chairman. Donations may also be left in the dean of students office.

An experiment in Christian citizenship, the drive is aimed at encouraging students to develop their beliefs as citizens of the community.

Money Benefits School

Money raised will benefit community, city, national and international need. Remaining money, after the campus level will be the student Memorial and Emergency Fund.

The Parish Home for the Aged and the Lutheran Children's Home are the Waverly charities. Lutheran Student Action, Cancer Foundation and the Heart Fund benefit on the national level, while the Lutheran Intercollegiate Service Unit will benefit completing the list of recipients.

Fifteen Wartburg Seniors To Appear In '56 'Who's Who'

Fifteen Wartburg seniors will be included in the 1956 edition of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Six states and two countries are represented among the Wartburg students.

The names released this week were Robert Vogel, Mary Ann Hoh, Don Mantler, Richard Eichmann, Wendell Lienesch, Ida Ahrens, Jean Pfeifer, William Wiedenroder, Elder Windleux, Walter Pilgrim, Maxine Kitchens, Ken Stanek, Elaine Dieter, Edith Baderschneider and Paul Wittenberg.

The names of one in every 20 college students in the United States appear in this publication. It serves as a valuable reference for those accepted, according to Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann.

Nominated By Committee

Seniors are nominated by an election committee with the approval of the faculty. Requirements are academic standing, leadership, extracurricular activities and personality. By vote of the student body two more than the number selected will be chosen and nominated. All Wartburg nominees were accepted this year.

Robert Vogel, first vice president of the letter organization Luther Legion, served on a Parish Education Builders team this past summer. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia music fraternity and Concordia Club.

Currently he is serving his fourth year in the Student Senate.

A journalism student, Ken Stanek is TRUMPET editor and president of the Wartburg chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity.

Mary Ann Hoh, another Parish Mission Builder, has served in the Senate and on the Student Union Council. Besides reigning over the 1956 Homecoming festivities, she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Two members of the Homecoming queen's court, Jean Pfeifer and Elain Baderschneider, have also been selected. Pfeifer is secretary of the Senate, president of the women's coordinating board and a member of YWCA. Baderschneider is president of FTA and a member of Castle Singers and WAA.

Don Mantler, student body president, and Elder Windleux, student body vice president, are both theological students and members of Chi Rho. Windleux headed last year's Student Body project.

Two music students, Elaine Dieter and William Wiedenroder, have been active in Senate and choir. Dieter is currently directing Knights Chordy and is a member of Mission Fellowship and MAE.

Lehmann Pre-The

Richard Lehmann, pre-theological student, served on the Senate for two years and is active in choir, president. He is active in Chi Rho and WAA.

Active in athletics, Wendell Lienesch and Stan Kittleson lead the cheering section of "W" club. Lienesch was chosen September athlete-of-the-month. Kittleson is a member of FTA and North Hall Council.

Premedical student Ida Ahrens is president of Chi Rho and a member of Alpha Chi Omega, Clemelot Society and Debate Club.

Paul Wittenberg and Walter Pilgrim, pre-theological students, are members of Chi Rho. Wittenberg is Castle Singers, Mission Fellowship and has served on the Senate. Pilgrim is treasurer of band, choir and Student Union Council. He has served as class officer and Homecoming chairman.

Handel's 'Messiah' Tomorrow At 7:30

Handel's "Messiah" will be presented tomorrow evening in the Waverly Methodist church sanctuary by the Bremer County Choral Union at 7:30. The choir will be conducted by Lynn Ostenso, Wartburg violin low professor, and will be directed by Leland Lillehaug, Waverly high music director.

Two members of the Wartburg Music Department are included among the soloists: tenor C. Robert Nesvig and pianist Miss Ida Abramson. No admission will be charged for the hour and a half

Benefit Concert Caps Tour; Proceeds Go To FAB Organ

Fresh from a two-week, five-state tour, Wartburg's a cappella choir, under the baton of Dr. Edwin Liemohn, presented a benefit concert in Waverly high school auditorium Sunday.

Proceeds from tickets sold for the Christmas concert will be used to aid in purchasing an organ for the Fine Arts Building.

Travel 2,000 Miles

The choir traveled over two thousand miles during the tour of mid-western and Southwestern states. Several appearances were given on radio and several night concerts. Highlights of the journey included a visit to the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, and an exploration of the caverns.

On the program was Dr. Liemohn's own composition "There Is None like unto Thee," with words by Psalm 86, Responsive Reading, brief of the Old Testament. Dr. Liemohn's arrangement of "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" was also sung.

Christmas Numbers

Several of the selections were Christmas numbers. "Hodie Christus Natus est" Palestrina, "The Three Kings," arranged by Lluis Millet, "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly," a Welsh carol; and "Alleluia, Christ Is Born" by Morton Lauridsen.

"Psalm 100," arranged by Heinrich Schutz, was sung with no help on the organ.

As a conclusion, Liemohn invited all choir alumni in the audi-

FEATURING EXCEPTIONAL TALENT

Artist Series 'Feather In Cap'

By Jack Maas

Drew Pearson, the Vienna Choir Boys, Artur Rubinstein, Lord Inverchapel, Jascha Heifetz, the Boston Pops, Leo Sowerby, as well as part of the impressive list of extraordinary world talent which has been included on the Wartburg College Artist Series in past years.

"It's a feather in Wartburg's cap that we drew audiences from every other college—public and private—the likes of Drew Pearson," the Robert Shaw Chorale" commented Dr. A. W. Sweitzer, chairman of the Artist Series Committee.

Students from other schools even those much larger than Wartburg, are amazed that it would cost them only $2.50 to see and hear such artistic renown as one of the finest.

'Does Much Work'

"The entire committee does much work," Sweitzer stated. "They meet on call, and each member has his respective job. Among all the details of booking such a large undertaking."

Talent Search Early

In January of each year, representatives from different committees present their findings in terms of the student-faculty committee. The committee picks a

Need Extra Christmas Cash? Read This: Contest Offers $25 In Prize Money

A Christmas decorations contest open to all campus organizations and housing units with a total of $25 in prizes to be awarded is to be held again this year.

Under the direction of the TRUMPET, $12.50 will be awarded to the winners in each of the two divisions. The winner in each group will be awarded $6, while prizes of $4 and $2.50 will go to second and third-place winners.

Chosen by the campus editorial board, the judges will award prizes on the basis of originality, Christmas theme and the beauty of decorations.

Entry blanks, giving directions for the contest anywhere on campus and housing unit grounds, may be obtained from any member of the TRUMPET staff or in the office of the dean of students. Prizes will be awarded at convocation on Tuesday, Dec. 20.

ence to come to the stage and join the choir in singing the "Messiah" chorus. There will be an all choir rehearsal tonight.

Dorothy Dollmeyer, junior, and Sharon Lee, sophomore, were accompanists.

Commercialization Amiss

That third "last" piece of Thanksgiving turkey had hardly found its target when someone suggested the television set be given life. A flick of the wrist, and several seconds later, the picture found its way through the snow and there appeared an exuberant announcer who was gushing over with fact your loved ones a Christmas gift which they can use the year round. Give them a . . .

Unfortunately the snow cleared up and the viewers watched the rest of the commercials. Make this your happiest Christmas ever. Help your friends to enjoy the yuletide season by giving them the beautiful . . .

Nauseating and repugnant is this effort of the business man to capitalize on the seasonal generosity of the public. Starting a week earlier each year, the sales promoters will next year probably be advertising gifts to surprise the children on Thanksgiving morning.

But that's not all. You turn on the radio and the disc jockey says, "And now for that favorite Christmas tune. Something Barked on Christmas Morning. Last year it was 'Santa Baby, Hurry down the Chimney Tonight.'"

The Christmas season grows and grows. And each year it gets a little farther from the day Mary gave birth to the Christ Child in the manger.

Dr. Schmidt Finishes 40th Year In Ministry

Some people know Dr. William F. Schmidt as the pastor of St. Paul's Reform Church. Some know him as the chairman of the ALC Board of Christian Higher Education.

Wartburg College knows him as a friend who has given graciously of his time and efforts in enriching the spiritual life of its students. College students recognize Dr. Schmidt as a capable leader and profound possessor of the pulse.

Last week Dr. Schmidt observed his 40th year in the ministry. Seven of these have been spent in Waverly. All of Wartburg College congratulates Dr. Schmidt for his 40 years of devoted service.

GLOBULAR GLIBBLINGS

Reel, Riot, Grenade Make Up Real Ball

By Don Oberdorfer

A frightful reel, a riot and a grenade add up to excitement after tweeting out trouble in the Middle East and in South America, this week found itself facing another crisis.

What now was not a new one, but something old was throwing a grenade into the midst of the trouble spots in Europe. Grenade throwing, Communist style, is a favorite in operation there.

Out of this group of people living on the island of Cyprus came the grenade throwers underground. This group did all it could to drive the British out of the island in hopes of one day receiving the island for itself. The British, however, being hardy souls and capable of refusing, action squashed all hopes of ever showing him the door.

Recently, while the attention of the British were focused on the Egyptian brawl; these freedom fighters decided to make another bid for freedom. The battle waged on the island, producing no casualties. This was enough to put the British officers on guard.

Oberdorfer

One of the leaders in the uprising seems to be the Archbishop of Cyprus by the name of Makarios. In emergency that the British pulled out and ran. The world could not be settled in such an unceremonious manner. The Archbishop may not have had a great deal to do with the uprising. What would be more likely is the hope to assemblish by such violence. The answer is clearly with Greece, thus causing the renewal of British forces from the island. The British, in turn, have put the Archbishop in a place of their friday empire, re-sorted to arms to quell the disturbance.

It does not seem to be just however. The British, in an attempt to show their loyalty to their country and Queen, provided a humorous element to the scene of violence. While threashinred guests danced the Highland reel in a hotel ballroom, the terrorists answered the emergency state by throwing a grenade in amongst the dancers.

By John Solem

"Mommy, when is daddy coming home?"

The grenade burst, causing the water mains to explode and flood the ballroom. Was there panic or consternation? Not The guests proved their fidelity to the throne by calmly singing "God Save the Queen"—while water swirled mad by about their ankles.

Unable to withdraw because of the North Atlantic Treaty, the British are ready to save the situation in as smooth a manner as possible.

STANDING AS A SENTINEL

76 Year-Old Main Lives On

By Norm Brady
TRUMPET Feature Writer

"Hahn sie gesagen for dein Saturday nacht bath, Johann?"

"Ja aber kannst du dein shaving cup mit bringen from cast basement to cast basement mit dein first floor, Heinrich?" Main feet werde mooste from Asche haul, und from the basement to first floor mich tought!"

"Will willst du die possibilities be bearen?"

And that was life on the Wartburg campus back in the 1880's when the "old" most of campus life was restricted to one building—Old Main.

Classrooms, where students spent most of their time, were located on the second and third floors of the west end of the section, red-brick structure. The top floor also provided living quarters for Wartburg students.

Those were "hard" times. If a student wanted to take a spring vacation he ran one of the flight beds which were provided by the college, he had to pay an extra fee.

Old Main Center of Activity

Those young days in Wartburg's history saw all activities and life flourish in, around and sometimes on top of Old Main. The first floor housed the teachers, including the president who at that time was Pastor Georg Grossmann.

Sleeping, studying, classes, eating—all took place in Old Main. The bathroom was situated in the basement and that was a big drawback in the early days.

Water at that time Old Main had neither running water nor electricity. The first modern utility was the installation of a telephone in 1883. Construction of fire escapes was considered, but final plans called for four stoves to be hung from convenient places.

Heat for the building was provided by classes in carpentry. Each student was envisioned a structure which he expected to accomplish during his needs. The erection of Old Main was financed through pledges from members of the Synod.

Plans for the building were exceeded long estimates, and since the college had to clear its debts before the Synod would accept the building, Pastor Grossman reached deep into the pockets of the shabby trousers and emptied the money that he embarked Wartburg on its auspicious beginning.

Fire and Classes Mean Burning Log

Since the college had no gymnasium, phy ed classes were held in the old partial ed is now located. Bars and ropes comprised most of the athletic equipment. A small hut located where North Hall is now standing and which might have been called the some type of building served as a gymnasium.

Old Wartburg grew and the importance of Old Main diminished. Other buildings rose to share buildings, and the students followed suit. The ancient landmark is now used primarily for music instruction and art work.

By the spring of 1954 Old Main was given new shingles and fresh make-up was applied to the door trimmings. After that nothing happened.

With the construction of the new Fine Arts Building, students and alumni are concerned with the fate of Old Main. The administration is now pondering the question.

Old Main stands as a sentinel in the night, watching over the component parts and directing students on to the right paths.

THE TRUMPET RECOMMENDS

Forester Fast Becoming Literary Admiral

By Duane Schroeder

C. S. Forester is fast becoming one of the literary admirals of seven seas.

After writing nine novels about the British Royal Navy during the Napoleonic era, Forester has climbed on the bandwagon of the British Royal Navy with "The Good Shepherd" a novel of the early days of the Second World War.

Schroeder

The novel's unbroken ships of the 1400's to the steam-propelled vessels of the 20th century didn't phase Forester at all. The author has proven that his knowledge of modern warfare at sea is great as was his acquaintance with the historical background of the Horatio Hornblower era.

The story doesn't bury the reader with details. Effective use of dialogue makes the plot progress swiftly. The novel is written principally to entertain as are the nine books in the Horatio Hornblower saga.

"The Good Shepherd" is the story of Captain Krause, a veteran sea, especially in novels about the sea. Commander of the destroyer escorting captain who offers protection of a convoy of ships of his ocean. His quality aids to his reliable character and contributes convincing face.

It is a long trip from Canada—or Greenland, UN virginia of the destroyer "Keeling," to Horsie Hornblower-type character, but Krause is as realistic as Hornblower or Lord Jim.

Krause is the son of a Lutheran pastor, who is leading a convoy across the submarine-infested North Atlantic at the early stages of the war.

In Krause's convoy of 37 transports and four screening destroyers, Royal Canadian Navy, Canada, England and the United States are represented. The commander's sympathy towards the exiled Polish captain and the impact of the cooperation of the allied nations during the war.

The German submarine wolfpack is forming, and Krause is forced to stay on the wind-swept bridge for 48 straight hours making vital decision after vital decision. Should he leave the convoy to pick up a crew overboard, U-boat or should he stay behind with a badly damaged transport and leave a flank of the convoy exposed?

Life or death decisions are made with machine-like rapidity, and Krause is the machine.

The destroyer "Keeling," which Krause commands, is running out the ammunition is almost gone as the battle rages. Other ships are awaiting the plight of the convoy which the submarines stalk by day and night.

Rear Admiral Ralph W. Christie, retired USN commander of submarines, Southwest Pacific, and commander J. D. P. Hodgo, former USN commanding officer, USS "Hali," assisted Forester in research for the book. The cooperation of these three men and their knowledge of naval warfare add verisimilitude to the plot.

Despite its novels, Forester is ready to take his place alongside Conrad and Hemingway as an authority in naval warfare.

Augsburg Spoils '55-'56 Cagers' Debut, Grabs Early 15-4 Lead, Wins 102 - 94

By Bill Melvin
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Augsburg capitalized on six minutes of frigidity by Wartburg to build an early 15-4 lead and then roared on to a 102-94 victory Tuesday night in the season's opener for both teams at the Minneapolis Armory Thursday night.

The first bucket of the new season for Wartburg proved an elusive one. 6 minutes and 40 seconds had elapsed before Max Mangelsdorf finally parked one through on a rebound shot. Augsburg scored 10 points, however, and led 52-37 at the intermission.

Knights Rally In 2nd Period

Coming out for the second period, the Knights outscored the Augsburg five seven points in the first two minutes to pull within seven points, 59-52. They had two more chances to tie but were stymied each time. Augsburg went on a scoring spree and finished home 12-minute period to the Knights could score again.

Haveman

Art Mangelsen led the scoring for the Knights with 26 points, tallied exactly on his jump shot from out in front. Wessel, a freshman from Wyoming playing his first game for Wartburg, tallied 16, including 10 free throws without a miss.

Plumedahl Paces Scorers

Bob Plumedahl, the Augsburg captain who scored 28 points against Wartburg last year from his guard position, again led the league scorers with 24 points.

Wartburg was guilty of 31 personal fouls during the rugged contest and lost four men via the foul route during the game. Don Havemann did not make the trip because of an ankle sprain suffered in practice.

Liemohn, Margheim Rate First Team Berths In 1955 All-Conference Football Selections

Margheim Liemohn

Two Knight gridders were named to the All-conference team at a recent meeting of the Iowa Conference.

End Wendell Liemohn, senior, and quarterback Art Margheim, junior, were voted to the all star eleven. Onita Parsons, undefeated IIAC champs, placed every man on the star squad. It rated three.

Dubuque University was picked two, and one each from Upper Iowa, Iowa Wesleyan, Simpson and Luther complete the squad.

All-conference is not a new thing for Art Margheim. He was named to the first five in Iowa Conference basketball last year. He was also picked on the Bob-ball squad since sound during his freshman year.

For his third consecutive year, Wendell Liemohn received All-conference recognition. Although hampered by injuries, Liemohn has been a consistent pass and pass receiving.

22 Knight Gridders Earn Numerals

Twenty-two Knights have been named by Coach Elton Johnson to receive varsity football letters. The 1955 football squad finished with a 6-3 record, the worst since Johnson took over the reins as head football coach four years ago.

Seniors on the squad earning letters are Stan Kirchner, Wendell Liemohn, Dick Lehmann and Gerry Lemahieu. Junior letter winners include Lansberg, Art Margheim, John O'Brien, Jack Krentz, Dick Schwenke, Harry Ruff, Bill Bonhoff and Bob Wolbert.

Sophomores are Hank Thiemann, Roger Dietz, Vernon Boos, Ralph Wolters, Hank Glesman, Jerry Lewalthaser and Carl Schwenk.

Three freshmen earned varsity letters during their initial season. They are Ray Boyens, Dick Simpson and Darwin Fritz.

Rated title contenders at the start of the season, the Knight gridders were injury-plagued all year. With 18 lettermen back next year, prospects for the locked men appear considerably brighter.

Knights Open '55-'56 Home Slate Tonight At 9

Tangle With Strong St. Mary's Squad In Main Event Of Cage Triple-Header

By Bill Mahin
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Wartburg opens its 1955-56 home basketball season tonight at 9 in Knights Gymnasium by taking on its second Minnesota foe in a row, St. Mary's College of Winona.

In the evening's opener at 6:45, Waverly High School "B" team will take on Mount Clare "B" squad. At 7 the high school first teams will meet.

Knights will be up against a powerful St. Mary's club that may be one of the prime contenders for the Minnesota Conference crown.

Knights Win Is '53

Although St. Mary's was set on the Wartburg schedule last season, the Knights traveled to Winona two years ago and defeated their hosts 69-56.

This year's St. Mary's team opened its season in an impressive fashion, trouncing Loras College, 80-74. Center John Curran led the attack against Loras by scoring 24 points.

Wartburg, however, must be prepared to face a well-balanced scoring attack, as four men on the St. Mary's team scored at least sixteen points.

Most formidable might Wartburg begins the defense of its Iowa Conference crown by traveling to Mt. Pleasant to play Iowa Wesleyan.

Wesleyan, decisive an opening 92-62 loss to Loras, is rated one of the most improved teams in the conference. The team hit on 42.8 per cent of its shots in the Loras contest and lost only because of numerous errors on the rebound against the taller Loras club.

Forward Bob Ballard and guard Bob Gunter powered a doubleheaded scoring punch with 20 points apiece. They should give the Knights plenty of trouble.

Probable starting line-ups for St. Mary's tonight is John Sheridan and Pat Thies at forward, Gerry Ward and George Kuehl at guard and John Curran in the keyhole.

Iowa Wesleyan's tentative lineup includes Bob Ballard and Joe Greyson at forward, Bob Gunter and George Wagner at guard and Keith Rieker at center.

Coach Norm Johansen Faces Big Task In Building Depleted Wrestling Squad

By Gery Blohm
TRUMPET Sports Writer

Coach Norm Johansen has a big task on his hands as he rebuilds his wrestling squad, which has only three returning lettermen this season.

Twenty-five hopefuls began workouts early in November in anticipation of the start of the wrestling season Dec. 10. During the season the Knight matmen will compete in 12 contests, including two tournaments.

Three Lettermen

The three returning lettermen include Wendell Wilhelm, who lettered in 1950 and is back from the service; Merle Funk and Tom Gudewill.

Veterans are Maynard Werner, Bob Wenhoff, Dick Mueller, Gerald Langendorfer, Duane Bruns and Don Stauffenberg. Other wrestling squad is the largest Johansen has had to work with in his five years at Wartburg.

New Faces Out

Novice wrestlers include Glenn Hoeberg, Leon Keith, Eugene Gierke, Charles Wandschneider, Dale Bauman, LaMoine Jacobs, Marvin Schamberg, Roch Kester, Thomas Kramer, Dick Gudewill, Jim Woodrow, Luther Merton, Jerry Meyers, Arno Frerichs, Dave Cox and Stan Kittelson.

Cheerleaders selected at Waverly High and Morton prepped at Independence.
